■ About KADONEX™

KADOTOKU Corporation operates 3 core businesses—Trading, Coordination and Manufacturing—with the mission of empowering Japanese industry.

Leveraging sourcing expertise and technical know-how, we develop innovative materials beyond the traditional trading-company model.

KADONEX™ is a coined word that combines “KADO” (from our company name) with “NEXUS,” Latin for “connection”. With this trademark milestone, we will further invest in building KADONEX™ as a platform brand that connects technologies, partners, and markets, and contributes to the sustainable advancement of Japanese industry.

■ Future Development of KADONEX™

KADONEX™ is a tailored aliphatic polyisocyanate designed to toughen and flexibilize polyaspartic-ester polyurea. By balancing NCO functionality and molecular structure, it improves toughness and elongation while maintaining UV stability, clarity, and fast cure. This enables broader use of polyaspartic technology across industrial coating applications.
